Turkey's indigenous car to boost GDP

President Recep Tayyip Erdogan says Turkey's first indigenous automobile will hit roads in 2021

ANKARA - Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan said Tuesday that Turkey's first indigenous automobile would contribute 50 billion euros ($58.7 billion) to the country's Gross Domestic Product (GDP). Erdogan said on Twitter that the electric car will also reduce Turkey's dependency on petroleum. "Our electric automobile that will hit the roads in 2021 will contribute 50 billion euros to GDP, reducing oil dependency. It's time for a local car. It's time for Turkey," he said. Erdogan also shared a graphic that described how the indigenous automobile would contribute to Turkey's economy. Nearly 100 sub-sectors that will develop information, software and digital technologies will form and smart driving systems will reflect technologies of the future, the graphic said. It also will contribute 7 billion euros ($8.2 billion) to the current account deficit and 20,000 jobs. The graphic also contained automotive industry export data which showed that exports rose from $4.8 billion... MORE DETAILS

Turkey to Germany: extradite FETO suspects

By Merve Aydogan

ANKARA - Foreign Minister Mevlut Cavusoglu on Wednesday called on Germany to extradite Fetullah Terrorist Organization (FETO) members to Turkey. In a televised interview to private news channel Haberturk, Cavusoglu said: "If Germany does not return

Adil Oksuz to us, then it will be in the same position as the U.S. that does not extradite FETO leader [Fetullah Gulen]." "There is some activity in the U.S. [over the extradition of Gulen], but whether it is Germany or other countries, they must all return these traitors who plotted a coup in Turkey; these people must face justice." Turkey's most wanted coup suspect spotted in Germany

BERLIN - Turkey's most wanted coup suspect Adil Oksuz stayed at a small apartment in Berlin early this year under the protection of Fetullah Terrorist Organization members, witnesses have told Anadolu Agency. Oksuz, a theology lecturer accused of masterminding Turkey's July 15, 2016, defeated coup, has been on the run for almost two years. Anadolu Agency correspondents dug out the flat in central Berlin, which was allegedly used by Oksuz and other FETO figures who fled from Turkey, since the defeated coup. Ali A., a Berlin-based Turkish businessman with suspected ties to FETO, provided financial support for the group to rent the flat in Berlin's Neukoelln district... MORE DETAILS

Anadolu Agency ready for elections

ANKARA - Anadolu Agency, which has shared Turkey's election and referendum results in the fastest and most accurate way since last four years, is the source of news for national and local media.
